THE REPRESENTATIVE OF THE
UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
TO THE
UNITED NATIONS

July 1, 2002

Dear Mr. Dhanapala:

On behalf of the United States Mission to the United Nations, I am pleased to provide the attached military expenditures information, as called for in the relevant paragraphs of the United Nations General Assembly resolution 56/14 entitled "Objective Information on Military Matters, including Transparency of Military Expenditures." Our submission includes:

- Military Expenditures Data for Fiscal Year 2001
- Explanatory Notes

Please let me know if we can be of further assistance.

Sincerely,

Military Expenditures of the United States of America, Fiscal Year 2001
In Accordance with the United Nations Instrument for Standard International Reporting

(In millions of U.S. dollars at current prices; for fiscal year ending September 30.)

The military expenditures (or outlays) are from the budgets of individual military departments (Army, Navy, Air Force) and the defense agencies within the Department of Defense, as well as the budgets of the Department of Energy (for nuclear programs), the Department of Transportation (for the Coast Guard), and the Federal Emergency Management Agency (for civil defense until 1995). These expenditures are entered for each force group in the UN instrument as follows:

Strategic Forces (col. 1): The forces called for in this column by the United Nations format do not have a separate service or military department in the United States. All resources for strategic offensive, defensive, and command, control and communications forces are contained in the budgets of the Air Force, Navy, and Army, and outlay data are not readily available for strategic forces as such.

Army Forces (column 2): The budget for the Department of Army.

Navy/Marine Forces (col. 3): The budget of the Department of the Navy, which contains both the Navy and the Marine Corps.

Air Force (column 4): The budget of the Department of Air Force.

Other Combat Forces (col. 5): Not Applicable; all active and reserve military forces are financed from the above military service budgets.

Central Support & Administration:
Agencies (column 6): The budgets of the defense agencies (Office of the Secretary of Defense, Defense Logistics Agency, Defense Information Systems Agency, Defense Contract Audit Agency, etc.). These agencies provide defense-wide support and general administration.
Other (column 7): Special defense-wide programs that do not normally fall under the management of military departments or defense agencies (e.g., environmental restoration, support of World Games, etc.).

Paramilitary (column 8): Outlays for defense-related activities of the U.S. Coast Guard under the Department of Transportation.

Military Assistance:
Home (column 9): Not applicable.
Abroad (column 10): Unallocated; includes foreign military financing, the economic support fund, and other programs in the category "international security assistance" in the Budget of the United States for Fiscal Year 2003.
UN (column 11): Includes outlays for support of United Nations peacekeeping forces.

Undistributed (column 12): Department of Energy outlays on all atomic energy activities, including weapons, materials production, naval reactor development, and verification and control technology.

Civil Defense (column 14): The Federal Emergency Management Agency no longer programs separate funding for civil defense activities.
